There is a common Chinese saying, "A crafty rabbit has three burrows" (狡兔三窟). 2011 Rabbit Year is hopping out of sight soon. I do not know if this rabbit has one, two or three burrows but we do know that this Rabbit Year hasn't been an easy time for many people.

In my opinion, I would say that the three most notable events to date in Metal Rabbit Year 2011 are the revolutionary wave of civil uprisings in the Arab world (also known as Arab Spring or Arab Awakening), the catastrophic earthquake in eastern Japan that triggered powerful tsunami waves and subsequently the Fukushima nuclear crisis, and the intensification of the European sovereign debt crisis that causes stock prices to tumble in worldwide exchanges.

ProsperTimes™ Jan 2011 issue on Rabbit Year Predictions has hinted and warned our readers on continuing conflicts, stock markets losing steam in autumn, regulatory cooling measures on sizzling hot property market, water-related disasters, abundant rainwater, floods, etc.

As we await the awakening of the Water Dragon, the fifth animal in the Chinese zodiac, this issue of ProsperTimes™ brings you some insights and snippets on what lies in store for us in the coming year. Will we witness a calmer and more harmonious 2012? How is the stock market outlook and will the property prices rise further?

Read on to find out more.

*What's in store for us in Water Dragon
Year 2012?*

Year of the Water Dragon 2012

AS the sun rises in the direction of the Azure Dragon (青龙), an air of majestic awe begins its descent. Popularly recognised by the Chinese as the symbol for auspicious power and eminent strength, the Chinese Dragon is believed to possess supernatural prowess. Besides acquiring the ability to submerge in water and ascend to the skies, the Chinese Dragon can also form clouds, transform into water and change its body colours to blend in with the surroundings. Mesmerised by the mystic Dragon, the Chinese are sometimes known as the "Descendants of the Dragon" (龙的传人) and many Chinese totems or emblems carry the Dragon symbol as well.

Hsia Calendar (夏历) & Fortune Telling

The Hsia Calendar (夏历) is an amazingly accurate time computation system that is widely used by the Chinese communities to perform destiny analysis, fortune telling and to understand the climatic changes. The unique feature of this system is that every year, every month, every day and every hour is represented by 2 characters, namely the Heavenly Stem (天干) and the Earthly Branch (地支). The system encompasses 10 Heavenly Stems and 12 Earthly Branches, and each of the Heavenly Stem or the Earthly Branch is represented by Yin and Yang (阴阳) and one of the Five Elements (五行). The Five Elements are representation of the basic components of everything in the Universe. The relationship between the Elements, which comprise of Water (水), Wood (木), Fire (火), Earth (土) and Metal (金), will enable us to predict one's fortunes or luck and determine what's coming our way.

Macro Predictions

Top-Down versus Bottom-Up

Similarly, the Year of the Dragon, 2012, is symbolised by a Heavenly Stem and an Earthly Branch (壬辰) in the Hsia Calendar.

The Heavenly Stem ren (壬) represents Yang Water and the Earthly Branch chen (辰) represents Yang Earth. This is a Water Dragon year that implies Water "sitting" on top of Earth.

According to the Cycle of Birth (生) and Destruction (克), which governs the inter-relationship between the Five Elements (五行), Earth will halt or contain Water (土克水). This is a sign of conflict or disharmony. Different from Rabbit Year, the resentment stems from the bottom (bottom-up) instead of crushing down from the top (top-down).

Be Prepared for the Unexpected

The ren (壬) Water symbolises the vast ocean or immense volume of water.

As water does not have a definite shape and it represents flow, movement and fluidity, it implies rapid changes and unexpected turn of events. Just like an old Chinese saying, "Better to climb a mountain than to swim in water" (欺山莫欺水), it is advisable to refrain from taking shortcuts, be extra cautious and always be prepared for the unexpected. The water may appear calm on the surface but there could be strong undercurrents. You may not have realised how deep the water is until you jump in.

Things may not be too straightforward in 2012 Dragon Year. Do not make judgments or decisions based on surface information. Make a concerted effort to probe deeper and look at things from different perspectives. Leave no stone unturned.

Wits and Wisdom Save the Day

The ren (壬) Water symbolises wisdom as well. To overcome the odds in 2012 Dragon Year, you have to rely on your wits and intelligence. Brutal force will not work to your favour.

Just like water, which represents flow, movement and fluidity, you have to be adaptable, flexible and keep innovating to keep up with the demands of changing circumstances. You cannot afford to be stagnant. Get out of your comfort zone to explore new avenues and discover new ventures. Due to this attribute, 2012 Dragon Year may be a bumper year for new patents and innovations.

Internal Affairs

The Dragon chen (辰) belongs to the Earth element (土) and it represents late spring and ageing (衰) of the Wood element. It also symbolises the "Grave" (墓) of the Yang Water ren (壬水) and Yin Metal xin (辛金). It speaks of constriction, stumbling blocks and closed-door discussions.

Nations, organisations, associations and families may have to put up with increased instances of internal conflicts and clashes within themselves. People may become more religiously inclined and attempt to seek a new dimension of life. Attention may also be focused on developing highlands resort, building skyscrapers, constructing dams or reservoirs and cemetery related issues.

Does History Repeat Itself?

History Does Repeat Itself?

The most recent years that both Water and Earth elements appeared together are Year 1982, 2003 and 2008. Year 1982, 2003 and 2008 are years of Water Dog (壬戌), Water Goat (癸未) and Earth Rat (戊子) respectively with Water "sitting" on Earth or vice versa. During these years, we witnessed the devastating consequences of Cyclone Nargis and the Sichuan earthquake in 2008, the outbreak of SARS (Severe Acute Respiratory Syndrome) epidemic in 2003 and the Falklands War between Argentina and Great Britain in 1982.

The Hsia Calendar is formulated on a 60-year cycle (六十甲子年). This means that the same pair of Heavenly Stem and Earthly Branch (壬辰) was also experienced in Year 1952.

In April 1952, the Treaty of Peace with Japan (also known as the Treaty of San Francisco) came into effect and brought the Second World War to an end officially. However, the world wasn't as peaceful as we had hoped. Animosity was of a different context and an arms race seemed inevitable at that time. United Kingdom announced the possession of an atomic bomb, while the United States carried out nuclear testing and denoted the first hydrogen bomb. The Republic of China Army and the People's Liberation Army clashed with each other on Nanri Island. In the same year, the United States also experienced the worst polio epidemic outbreak that killed more than 3000 people. Mother Nature had her say as well when she unleashed a 9.0 magnitude powerful earthquake in the Kamchatka Peninsula of the Soviet Union in early November that year.

From historical occurrences, conflicts and brewing animosity are again likely in Year 2012. There is also a possibility of an epidemic outbreak and we may witness devastating earthquakes as well.

Who Will Excel in Arts & Creativity In Dragon Year 2012?

The Dragon chen (辰) is the Star of Arts (华盖).

It governs matters related to the arts, culture and literature. Dragon Year 2012 could be the year for more artistic expressions and increased awareness and recognition of various cultures.

People born in the Year of Rat (子), Dragon (辰) or Monkey (申) tend to be under strong influence of this star. They will be more artistically inclined and display more creativity in their work and products.

On the hindsight, Dragon Year 2012 could also be a year of isolation and loneliness for some people. People who are born in the Year of Earth Dog (戌戌) in 1958, Metal Ox (辛丑) in 1961 or Wood Goat (乙未) in 1955 are more likely to experience a sense of emptiness and be isolated in Dragon Year 2012. Famous people who are born in Earth Dog Year 1958 include Sharon Stone and Madonna.

六冲自刑相害相破 The CLASHES of the Animal Zodiacs

The Clashes of The Animal Zodiacs in Water Dragon Year 2012

The Dragon (辰) is in direct clash with the Dog (戌). This is a clash (六冲) between the Earth (土) elements. Such a clash often causes health issues related to the spleen and immune system. Beware of injuries to the chest, shoulder and ankle.

As the Dragon (辰) is in direct clash with the Dog (戌), also known as Six Clashes (六冲), and causes a Self Clash (自刑) with the Dragon (辰), a Conflicting Clash (相害) with the Rabbit (卯) and a Related Clash (相破) with the Ox (丑), people born in the Year of the Dog, Dragon, Rabbit or Ox have to be especially cautious. A clash often results in more changes or life developments in that year and it also implies more challenges and there could be health related issues as well. It is therefore recommended for people born in these years, except for people born in the Year of Rabbit, to carry a Rooster pendant so as to alleviate the negative effects of the clash. People born in the Year of Rabbit may carry a Rat pendant instead.

In Dragon Year 2012, the direction of the Grand Duke (太岁) is Southeast (东南方). Avoid travelling directly towards this direction and try not to carry out major or extensive renovation works in the Southeastern sector of your house.

Famous people who are born in the Dog Year and clash with the Dragon in 2012 are Sharon Stone, Madonna, Donald Trump and Sonia Gandhi. Those who are born on a Dog Day will be affected by the clash and may face relationship challenges in 2012 as well. These people include Taiwanese actress, Shu Qi (舒淇) and Russian President, Vladimir Putin.

Where is the Academic Star (文昌) in Dragon Year 2012?

Another significant star that most parents would be interested is the Academic Star (文昌).

Dragon Year 2012 sees the Academic Star (文昌) residing in the Northeast sector ($52.5^{\circ} - 67.5^{\circ}$).

With proper guidance, school children who have their study desks placed in this sector will be able to enjoy good grades and success in examinations. Please bear in mind that this is a generic application. A more detailed and accurate analysis by a professional Feng Shui practitioner is still required for a more customised and exact placement.

So, Who's Enjoying Good Luck in Dragon Year 2012?

The Dragon (辰) combines with the Rooster (酉) in what is commonly known as the Six Combinations (六合), and with the Rat (子) and Monkey (申) in Triple Combinations (三合). People born in the year of Rooster, Rat and Monkey will therefore be in harmony and enjoy good luck in Dragon Year 2012.

However, this is only a generic assessment and should not be taken strictly or seriously as an analysis of one's fortunes or destiny. Four Pillars of Destiny or BaZi (also commonly known as Eight Characters, 八字), which is based on one's date and time of birth, offers a much more accurate and detailed analysis of one's destiny, luck and fortunes.

Health Matters

Different body parts or organs are represented by different Heavenly Stems (天干) and Earthly Branches (地支). Year 2012 is governed by the Water Dragon (壬辰).

Yang Water ren, generally, is associated with the bladder, and Yang Earth chen is associated with the spleen. People who are born in the Year of Dog (especially in 1946 and 1958), have to take extra care of their health in Dragon Year 2012. Health problems related to the bladder, spleen, immune, digestive or urinary system could arise. Reduce your salt consumption and maintain a balanced and healthy diet.

People are also more injury prone with higher likelihood of injuries inflicted on the chest, shoulder or ankle. Take care when you exercise and make it a good habit to do some stretching exercises first before your workout. Besides regular exercise (not strenuous exercises) to increase our metabolism rate and improve our immune system, sufficient intake of honey and ginseng may also help to reduce the imbalances in Dragon Year 2012.

Business & Property Outlook 2012

Master Lim takes the Economic Pulse for Dragon Year 2012

In the last couple of months, we heard it too often. Governments around the world are sounding alarm bells on global economic slowdown and pessimistic reports spanned across the front pages of every business publication. Is the economy really so bad in Dragon Year 2012? Is the property bubble going to burst? Will we see a ray of hope amid a sky of dark clouds?

In conjunction with the launch of ProsperTimes™ publication on 2012 Dragon Year Predictions, Master Lim of Chang Consultancy (www.ProspersWithFengShui.com) answers seriously tough questions on the economic health in Dragon Year 2012.

QUESTION 1: Master Lim is quite right in his 2011 predictions on the stock market. Which will then be the best month/months to invest in Dragon Year 2012?

MASTER LIM: "There could be some cause for cheer in the 2nd quarter or in mid-2012. The fire of optimism may help to inject some form of vitality into the lacklustre market. However, I do not expect the good times to be long lasting. Sense of fear will eventually sink in and kill off the optimistic mood. Dragon Year 2012 may be the time for you build on your stocks portfolio for middle- to long-term investment. Be extra cautious and do your homework if you decide to make some investments next year."

STOCK MARKET 2011 (PREDICTIONS VS ACTUAL)

Master Lim predicted:

"The curve during the first couple of months seems relatively flat. It starts to undergo correction and becomes erratic until the middle of the year. The upward trend seems to be more prominent during the mid year and loses steam in the September / October period. Unlike the previous year when we witnessed favourable reports towards the end, the chances of seeing a repeat in Rabbit Year 2011 are low."

QUESTION 2: As a global recession looms, which countries are still expected to do relatively well in Dragon Year 2012?

MASTER LIM: "This is a tough question to answer as different countries have different economic structures and there are different yardsticks to measure economic performance."

"If we take the economic growth percentage as a guide to a country's performance, I would expect China to continue its good run. I have a feeling that India will do well and some African countries show great promise too. Middle Eastern countries may feature a good showing as well."

"Japan may be in a more stable state in Dragon Year 2012 after a difficult time in Rabbit Year 2011."

"Although the European nations will still be troubled by the debt crisis, United States seems to be more resilient."

QUESTION 3: What can you say of the interaction of the political and economic forces in Dragon Year 2012?

MASTER LIM: "Instead of a top-down approach, I presume that a bottom-up scenario would be more prevalent in Dragon Year 2012. As many countries are due for election in 2012, most notably the United States, governments may accede to popular demands more readily in order to gain political points."

"However, with voting results hanging in balance, major decisions may be put on hold, resulting in a stalemate or the inability to move forward."

QUESTION 4: What advice would you give to investors in Dragon Year 2012?

MASTER LIM: "2012 is a Water Dragon year. As water does not have a definite shape and it represents flow, movement and fluidity, it implies rapid changes and unexpected turn of events. Investors should therefore be extra cautious and always be prepared for the unexpected. It would be good to perform risk assessment, plan for contingencies and ask yourself what-if questions so as to be ready to handle sudden changes and overcome challenging circumstances."

"The water may appear calm on the surface but there may be strong undercurrents. Things may not be as straightforward as you think in Water Dragon Year 2012. Do not make judgments or decisions based on surface information. Make a concerted effort to probe deeper and look at things from different perspectives."

"Water symbolises wisdom as well. To overcome the odds in 2012 Dragon Year, you have to rely on your wits and intelligence. Brutal force will not work to your favour. Just like water, which represents flow, movement and fluidity, you have to be adaptable, flexible and keep innovating to keep up with the demands of changing circumstances. You cannot afford to be stagnant. Get out of your comfort zone to explore new avenues and discover new ventures."

PROPERTY MARKET 2011 (PREDICTIONS VS ACTUAL)

Master Lim predicted:

"The property market for Rabbit Year 2011 will still be vibrant and active. Rising rate may have stabilised but prices may still be heading north though at a slower rate. Amid pressure from the ground, the authorities may then review the regulations that they have put in place and make some fine tuning to the existing ones, hoping again to cool down the sizzling hot industry."

Actual 2011 Property Market: Various Property Regulatory Measures Implemented

13 January 2011

Measures to maintain a stable and sustainable property market

The Government announced today the following measures to maintain a stable and sustainable property market:

- Increase the holding period for imposition of Seller's Stamp Duty (SSD) from the current three years to four years;
- Raise the SSD rates to 16%, 12%, 8% and 4% of consideration for residential properties which are bought on or after 14 January 2011, and are sold in the first, second, third and fourth year of purchase respectively;
- Lower the Loan-To-Value (LTV) limit to 50% on housing loans granted by financial institutions regulated by MAS for property purchasers who are not individuals¹; and
- Lower the LTV limit on housing loans granted by financial institutions regulated by MAS from 70% to 60% for property purchasers who are individuals with one or more outstanding housing loans² at the time of the new housing purchase.

The measures will take effect on 14 January 2011.

7 December 2011

Additional Buyer's Stamp Duty for a stable and sustainable property market

The Government announced today an Additional Buyer's Stamp Duty (ABSD) to be imposed on certain categories of residential property purchases. The ABSD will be imposed over and above the current Buyer's Stamp Duty, and will apply to the purchase price or market value of the property (whichever is higher) for the following purchases:

- Foreigners and non-individuals¹ (corporate entities) buying any residential property will pay an ABSD of 10%;
- Permanent Residents (PRs) owning one² and buying the second and subsequent residential property will pay an ABSD of 3%; and
- Singapore Citizens (Singaporeans) owning two² and buying the third and subsequent residential property will pay an ABSD of 3%.

QUESTION 5: What is your take on the property market outlook in Dragon Year 2012?

MASTER LIM: "With a series of cooling down measures put in place by the authorities in 2011, the rises in property prices have since moderated. However, I feel that the prices will still hold steady in 2012 amid a slower growth rate. The government will be monitoring the market closely and intervention in near months does not seem likely. I also feel that there is going to be more competition within the industry itself, with developers going all out and pit themselves against each other to vie for the buyer's signature. I think that the property market will still be alive and vibrant in 2012."

QUESTION 6: So, is Dragon Year 2012 going to be a good year for businesses?

MASTER LIM: "There is a saying, during a crisis, there are opportunities too."

"It depends very much on the individual. If you are able to keep an open mind, be adaptive and flexible to changing environment, Dragon Year 2012 should generally be a good year for you. We must continue to innovate and churn out new ideas in order to keep up with unexpected circumstances. There are still opportunities up for grabs but you have to be more careful, study more in-depth information and take calculated risks along the way."

Employing elemental influences to predict the ups and downs of the stock market is a very basic form of analysis. Using this technique to forecast macro economic trends still has its own limitations. A more detailed and accurate analysis would be using the Four Pillars of Destiny or commonly known as BaZi (四柱八字命理分析) to predict each individual's fortune. Only then, we will be able to tell if the changing stock market or property market is performing to the individual's advantage.

The information presented in this section is far from conclusive and should not be used as a basis for speculation.

Which Industries will do WELL in 2012?

The dominant Water (水) element in Dragon Year 2012 bodes well for the Earth (土) element and Metal (金) element businesses. These include the property- or real estate-related businesses, ceramics, gemstone, construction and mining industries; and banking, jewellery, automotive, industrial machinery, computer, high-tech and security-related industries. The Earth (土) element businesses will enjoy favourable wealth luck but competition is keener than the previous year, while the Metal (金) element businesses enjoy good times in the 1st and 4th quarter of the year.

The least prosperous in Dragon Year 2012 is the Water (水) element businesses. Not only is the wealth luck absent for these businesses, they face tougher competition and may encounter intervention from relevant authorities too. These include the shipping, trading, tourism, beverage, logistic and transport businesses. Generally, a tough and challenging year ahead for these businesses.

The Earth (土) element in Dragon Year 2012 is also a good sign for the Wood (木) element and Fire (火) element businesses. The Earth represents the wealth for the Wood element businesses, while it represents productivity and creativity for the Fire element businesses. These include the agriculture, publishing, paper, forestry, fashion, textile, furniture and recycling businesses; and finance, electronics products, power & energy, oil & gas, lighting, food and entertainment businesses. The Wood (木) element businesses will enjoy better luck in the 2nd quarter, while the Fire (火) element businesses fare better in the 3rd quarter of the year.

Flying Star Chart for Dragon Year 2012

Environmental or cosmic energies flow and exist in cyclical periods and change from year to year (风水轮流转). This implies that positive and negative energies exist in different directions in different years. In Dragon Year 2012, using Flying Star Feng Shui (玄空飞星风水), Star 6 takes precedence and is the dominant star. The Flying Star Chart for Dragon Year 2012 is plotted as shown:

Northwest		North		Northeast
West	8	6	4	East
Southwest		South		Southeast

Star 6 (六白武曲星), which is represented by the Metal (金) element, takes centre-stage in Dragon Year 2012. As Star 6 is not considered auspicious during Age 8 (2004-2023) and Metal supports Water (金生水), this means, similar to the previous year, we may encounter substantial floods or water-related incidences in Dragon Year 2012 as well. The situation could be aggravated in the month of June, when Star 1 (dominant star in that month) combines with Star 6 to form a water configuration.

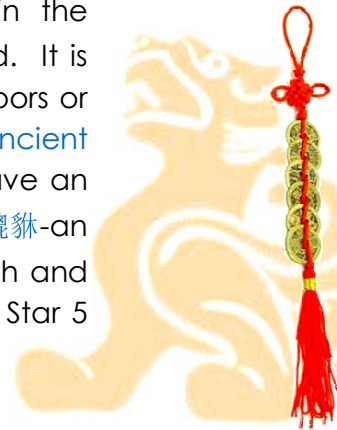

Star 6 also symbolises the father, the head of an organisation or elderly men. This group of people is likely to wield significant influence in Dragon Year 2012 and tends to join hands with young people (especially young men) to attain favourable results. People, who belong to this group, should take extra care of their health and be mindful of ailments or illnesses related to the lungs and intestines. This is especially so for those born in the Year of Dog and Dragon.

Star 5 (五黄廉贞星), which is the most calamitous star, arrives in the Southeast. This inauspicious star will cause critical illness if activated. It is recommended for homes that face Southeast or have their main doors or windows facing Southeast to hang a six-rod wind chime or 6 ancient Chinese coins to dissipate the negative energies. For those who have an affinity for exotic Chinese ornaments, placing a metallic Pi Xiu (貔貅—an auspicious Chinese mythical animal that is believed to amass wealth and ward off evil) is an effective remedy too. The negative energies of Star 5 are extremely potent in October / November 2012.

Special precautions have to be taken for inauspicious Star 2 (二黑巨门星) and Star 3 (三碧禄存星) too. Star 2 and 3 arrive in the North and Southwest respectively. Star 2 brings about sickness, while Star 3 causes scandals, disputes, quarrels and legal entanglements. A six-rod wind chime can be used to dispel Star 2 inauspicious energies. To dissolve the bad energies of Star 3, a lamp or a red mat / rug can be used.

For Dragon Year 2012, the most auspicious sector is the West. To activate the good energies, a lamp can be placed in this sector of the house.

Placing a water feature and amethyst crystals in this sector can bring about prosperity and unexpected wealth!

Another auspicious direction is the Northeast. Installing a hi-fi system or TV in this sector can activate the positive energies.

The provided recommendations have varying degrees of effectiveness for different people and properties of different orientations or configurations. To achieve higher success rate, it is advisable to consult a professional practitioner, who applies Flying Star Feng Shui, to perform a more comprehensive and thorough analysis.

We hope you have a better understanding of what lies ahead of us in Dragon Year 2012 and be ready to welcome the awakening Water Dragon. We would like to wish you a very happy and prosperous Dragon Year 2012!
